

I'm a Full stack JS developer who is currently looking for a good opportunity as a remote job. I have a solid experience as a react developer building an advanced web application for amazon affiliate partners, and also a good experience in the MEAN stack frameworks, that I acquired during a full stack JS development training in a training center named Crococoder. I'm a very passionate developer who takes pride in his work, as well as a good team player. Although i may lack experience in a big software team, i might say with modesty that i have all the attributes necessary to communicate with team members and build scalable and maintainable code. So, in sum, i'm looking for a job that can offer me a good opportunity for my professional growth, hoping that in return, i can give away some of my qualities to be a part in the growth of your company.

Best regards.
